To Chapter V.2.

V.2.1 Claims 1-12 related to a RF transponder

V.2.1.1. Independent Claim 1, Novelty

EP 0 832 765 A2 (document D1) shows (see figures 3 and 5) and describes (in the respective parts of the description, especially column 7, line 2, to column 8, line 47) and in the abstract):

- a RF (see abstract) transponder (50, 55, 59, 90, 91) comprising a plurality of circuits (105-114), and a power supply (101-105) for providing power (VDC, regulated voltage), including an input voltage (VDC), to the plurality of circuits (105-114), and a one (111) of the plurality of circuits (105- 114) comprising a Power-On Reset circuit (111, 210) for generating a reset signal (power enable signal, transmit enable signal; comment: in negated or inverse logic) for maintaining other ones (105, 112, 114; 109) of the plurality of circuits in an inoperative reset mode unless the power supply has sufficient power (VDC greater "high voltage" (215, 250), not less than "hysteresis low voltage" (235)) to ensure proper operation of the other ones of the circuits (105, 112, 114; 109).

Claim 1 differs therefrom in that:

- at least one of the other ones of the plurality of circuits comprises control logic which, upon release of the reset signal, starts transmission of a data stream at a first bit of the data stream, in order to ensure a first-pass transmission of a complete data stream.

Therefore, the present application seems to satisfy the criterion set forth in Article 33 (2) PCT because the subject-matter of independent claim 1 is new in respect of prior art as defined in the regulations (Rule 64 (1)-(3) PCT).

V.2.1.2. Claim 1, inventive Step

The problem to be solved by the present invention may therefore be regarded as to provide complete transmission of a data stream instead of a single status information after power down or reset.

INTERNATIONAL PRELIMINARY
EXAMINATION REPORT - SEPARATE SHEET

International application No. PCT/US99/29723

US 5 824 891 A (document D2) shows in figure 4 and describes in column 4, third paragraph ff. and in column 7, lines 15 to column 8, line 63 (especially column 8, first paragraph, and second paragraph from the bottom) a transponder (104), which, upon reset, checks to see if the voltage from a voltage supply (296, 300) is high enough to provide, convert and transmit sensor data in data word(s) or packet including starting at a first (reference) bit, i.e., in terms of the characterising part of present claim 1,

- at least one of the other ones (216) of the plurality of circuits (of transponder 104) comprises control logic which, upon release of the reset signal, starts transmission of a data stream (of at least a 18 bit data word) at a first (reference) bit of the data stream, in order to ensure (comment: with the aid of the voltage check) a first-pass transmission of the complete data stream.

It seems that the subject-matter of present independent claim 1 does not satisfy the criterion set forth in Article 33 (3) PCT because the subject-matter of independent claim 1 does not involve an inventive step in view of an obvious combination of prior art documents D1 and D2. Because both documents are concerned with the same problem in the same technical field, a man skilled in the art would combine the teachings of both documents thereby coming to the solution as claimed without inventive skill.

V.2.1.3. Claims 5-11 depending on Claim 1

Claims 5-11 depending on claim 1 and having as subject-matter special embodiments of the invention according to claim 1 do not fulfil the provisions of the PCT (Art. 33 and Rule 6 PCT) since their validity is dependent on that of claim 1, which has been denied. Further, the features of the following claims do not add anything of inventive significance (in the sense of Arts. 33 (2) or (3) PCT) to the subject-matter of claim 1, the features being -at least per se - known from the documents listed below:

- claims 2, 4, 6-8: D1, figure 5, blocks (210, 215);
- claim 3: D1, figure 5, blocks (210, 215, 235, 250);
- claim 9: D1, OR gate (108);
- claim 11: D1, figure 3 and column 7, lines 22-26.

INTERNATIONAL PRELIMINARY
EXAMINATION REPORT - SEPARATE SHEET

International application No. PCT/US99/29723

V.2.2 Method Claims 12-18

V.2.2.1. Independent Method Claim 12

The same which has just been mentioned with respect to claim 1 is also valid for the corresponding method claim 12.

Consequently, it seems that, although being considered as new in the sense of Article 33 (2) PCT with respect to the available prior art, claim 12 does not fulfill the provisions of Article 33 (3) PCT with respect to inventive step.

V.2.2.2. Claims 13-18 depending on Claim 12

Claims 13-18 depending on claim 12 and having as subject-matter special embodiments of the invention according to claim 12 do not fulfil the provisions of the PCT (Art. 33 and Rule 6 PCT) since their validity is dependent on that of claim 12, which has been denied.

Further, the features of the following claims do not add anything of inventive significance (in the sense of Arts. 33 (2) or (3) PCT) to the subject-matter of claim 12, the features being -at least per se - known from the documents listed below:

- see the respective remarks to the corresponding device claims.

V.2.3. Industrial Applicability

The claims seem to fulfil the provisions of Art. 33 (4) PCT, because corresponding RF transponders / methods of controlling operation thereof can be produced / realized and used - at least in the transponder industry.

INTERNATIONAL PRELIMINARY
EXAMINATION REPORT - SEPARATE SHEET

International application No. PCT/US99/29723

To Chapter VII.

VII.1 In the Description

Not all of the PCT-application numbers on pages 1, 5, 11,...have been replaced by the respective PCT-publication numbers, in accordance with Rule 5.1 (a) (ii) PCT.

To Chapter VIII.

VIII.1. Clarity

On page 8, line 11, reference to the invention is made by using the vague expression "...according to an aspect of the invention..." to a subject-matter which is not / will not be covered by the terms of the independent claims / to be filed. This will cause uncertainty with regard to the extent of that subject-matter which is desired to protect.

Further, the vague and imprecise statements ("spirit of the invention") on the last page of the description implies that the subject-matter for which protection is sought may be different to that defined by the claims, thereby resulting in lack of clarity (Article 6 PCT) when used to interpret them (see also the PCT Guidelines, III-4.3a).

NOTES TO FORM PCT/ISA/220

These Notes are intended to give the basic instructions concerning the filing of amendments under article 19. The Notes are based on the requirements of the Patent Cooperation Treaty, the Regulations and the Administrative Instructions under that Treaty. In case of discrepancy between these Notes and those requirements, the latter are applicable. For more detailed information, see also the PCT Applicant's Guide, a publication of WIPO.

In these Notes, "Article", "Rule", and "Section" refer to the provisions of the PCT, the PCT Regulations and the PCT Administrative Instructions respectively.

INSTRUCTIONS CONCERNING AMENDMENTS UNDER ARTICLE 19

The applicant has, after having received the international search report, one opportunity to amend the claims of the international application. It should however be emphasized that, since all parts of the international application (claims, description and drawings) may be amended during the international preliminary examination procedure, there is usually no need to file amendments of the claims under Article 19 except where, e.g. the applicant wants the latter to be published for the purposes of provisional protection or has another reason for amending the claims before international publication. Furthermore, it should be emphasized that provisional protection is available in some States only.

What parts of the international application may be amended?

Under Article 19, only the claims may be amended.

During the international phase, the claims may also be amended (or further amended) under Article 34 before the International Preliminary Examining Authority. The description and drawings may only be amended under Article 34 before the International Examining Authority.

Upon entry into the national phase, all parts of the international application may be amended under Article 28 or, where applicable, Article 41.

When?

Within 2 months from the date of transmittal of the international search report or 16 months from the priority date, whichever time limit expires later. It should be noted, however, that the amendments will be considered as having been received on time if they are received by the International Bureau after the expiration of the applicable time limit but before the completion of the technical preparations for international publication (Rule 46.1).

Where not to file the amendments?

The amendments may only be filed with the International Bureau and not with the receiving Office or the International Searching Authority (Rule 46.2).

Where a demand for international preliminary examination has been/is filed, see below.

How?

Either by cancelling one or more entire claims, by adding one or more new claims or by amending the text of one or more of the claims as filed.

A replacement sheet must be submitted for each sheet of the claims which, on account of an amendment or amendments, differs from the sheet originally filed.

All the claims appearing on a replacement sheet must be numbered in Arabic numerals. Where a claim is cancelled, no renumbering of the other claims is required. In all cases where claims are renumbered, they must be renumbered consecutively (Administrative Instructions, Section 205(b)).

The amendments must be made in the language in which the international application is to be published.

What documents must/may accompany the amendments?

Letter (Section 205(b)):

The amendments must be submitted with a letter.

The letter will not be published with the international application and the amended claims. It should not be confused with the "Statement under Article 19(1)" (see below, under "Statement under Article 19(1)").

The letter must be in English or French, at the choice of the applicant. However, if the language of the international application is English, the letter must be in English; if the language of the international application is French, the letter must be in French.

The letter must indicate the differences between the claims as filed and the claims as amended. It must, in particular, indicate, in connection with each claim appearing in the international application (it being understood that identical indications concerning several claims may be grouped), whether

- (i) the claim is unchanged;
- (ii) the claim is cancelled;
- (iii) the claim is new;
- (iv) the claim replaces one or more claims as filed;
- (v) the claim is the result of the division of a claim as filed.

The following examples illustrate the manner in which amendments must be explained in the accompanying letter:

1. [Where originally there were 48 claims and after amendment of some claims there are 51]:
"Claims 1 to 29, 31, 32, 34, 35, 37 to 48 replaced by amended claims bearing the same numbers; claims 30, 33 and 36 unchanged; new claims 49 to 51 added."
2. [Where originally there were 15 claims and after amendment of all claims there are 11]:
"Claims 1 to 15 replaced by amended claims 1 to 11."
3. [Where originally there were 14 claims and the amendments consist in cancelling some claims and in adding new claims]:
"Claims 1 to 6 and 14 unchanged; claims 7 to 13 cancelled; new claims 15, 16 and 17 added." or
"Claims 7 to 13 cancelled; new claims 15, 16 and 17 added; all other claims unchanged."
4. [Where various kinds of amendments are made]:
"Claims 1-10 unchanged; claims 11 to 13, 18 and 19 cancelled; claims 14, 15 and 16 replaced by amended claim 14; claim 17 subdivided into amended claims 15, 16 and 17; new claims 20 and 21 added."

"Statement under article 19(1)" (Rule 46.4)

The amendments may be accompanied by a statement explaining the amendments and indicating any impact that such amendments might have on the description and the drawings (which cannot be amended under Article 19(1)).

The statement will be published with the international application and the amended claims.

It must be in the language in which the international application is to be published.

It must be brief, not exceeding 500 words if in English or if translated into English.

It should not be confused with and does not replace the letter indicating the differences between the claims as filed and as amended. It must be filed on a separate sheet and must be identified as such by a heading, preferably by using the words "Statement under Article 19(1)."

It may not contain any disparaging comments on the international search report or the relevance of citations contained in that report. Reference to citations, relevant to a given claim, contained in the international search report may be made only in connection with an amendment of that claim.

Consequence if a demand for international preliminary examination has already been filed

If, at the time of filing any amendments under Article 19, a demand for international preliminary examination has already been submitted, the applicant must preferably, at the same time of filing the amendments with the International Bureau, also file a copy of such amendments with the International Preliminary Examining Authority (see Rule 62.2(a), first sentence).

Consequence with regard to translation of the international application for entry into the national phase

The applicant's attention is drawn to the fact that, where upon entry into the national phase, a translation of the claims as amended under Article 19 may have to be furnished to the designated/elected Offices, instead of, or in addition to, the translation of the claims as filed.

For further details on the requirements of each designated/elected Office, see Volume II of the PCT Applicant's Guide.
